ABOUT TOWN MATTERS

IN ARLINGTON.

All notices of concerts, lectures, entertainments, etc. to which an admission fee is charged or from which a revenue is to be derived, must be paid for by the line at the regular advertising rates.

—Your attention is called to the official notice of "Polish Day" in Arlington.

—Preparations are underway for another concert and dance to be given in Robbins Memorial Hall, on the evening of Friday, March 19th.

—Dr. Guy E. Singer of the Board of Health has announced that he will be a candidate for reelection at the coming annual town meeting.

—The W. C. T. U. holds a special meeting with Mrs. Warren A. Peirce at her home on Academy street, Friday afternoon, Feb. 5, at three o'clock.

—At the First Baptist church, Sunday evening, Jan. 31, at 6.30, Dr. J. E. Cummings of Hensada, Burma, will speak on his work. Everyone will be very welcome.

—It is now possible that Kenneth Peabody will be with the Arlington High hockey team this Friday, when the team meets Melrose at the Arena in the interscholastic series.

—Mr. Wm. H. Young, of 14 Pelham terrace, is visiting the Virginia Hot Springs this week on a business trip. He holds an important position in the offices of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

—The "E. N. Dance," takes place in Robbins Memorial Hall, this evening (Friday), and will be a distinct society event. It is under the management of a popular group of young men of the town.

—Mr. F. Alfred Patterson is a candidate for the vacancy on the Board of Assessors caused by the retirement of Leonard D. Bradley. Mr. Patterson is a resident at the Heights, the territory represented by Mr. Bradley.

—The monthly ladies' night, an always pleasant event, will take place at the Boat Club on Tuesday evening next, Feb. 2, in the assembly hall. It is to take the form of a dance, with music by Custer's orchestra.

—At the close of the meeting of Court St. Agnes, Daughters of Isabella, Monday evening in Knights of Columbus Hall, the members enjoyed a whist party. The souvenirs for the best scores were presented Miss Mary Harrington and Mrs. Florence Tole.

—Mrs. Roger Wellington Homer has been in Baltimore several weeks. She was called there by distressing sickness in the family of her brother. Several of its members have had diphtheria and the dread disease was fatal to one of the children.

—Tom Percy, the second son of Dr. D. T. Percy, spent the week-end at Bath, Me., the birthplace of his father. Percy went "down east," for the purpose of having his voice tried by Madam Emma Eames, the distinguished American prima-donna of international operatic fame. Miss Eames found that the young man is possessed of unusual talents and with

POLISH DAY.

The terrible distress and need of Poland, where six million people are without shelter, and thousands are living in holes in the ground with nothing to eat but roots and bark, has placed a task upon the Polish Relief Committee in which every feeling of humanity should urge that all assist. To this end the Public Interests League will have a "Polish Day," on Saturday, Feb. 6, throughout this state, when small Polish flags will be sold at ten cents and Polish eagles at twenty-five cents, or more, as generosity may impel.

In Arlington, the Boy Scouts will have charge of the selling in the Centre, the Hobby Club at the Heights and the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Chapel, at the East end of the Town. It is hoped that all of our citizens who can help in this work of mercy. The report, cabled by the Commission of Inquiry, is to the effect that the suffering in Poland is greater, if possible, than in Belgium.

—A course of Opera Talks by Mr. Havrah Hubbard (also a pianist), will be held at St. John's Parish House, Wednesday mornings, Feb. 3d, 10th, 17th and Thursday morning, Feb. 25th, at 10.30. These are given under the auspices of Arlington Woman's Club, but are open to the public. Tickets for the course of four talks are $1.00; for individual talks, 35 cents. These may be obtained from Mrs. Grace Monroe Marshall, chairman of the music committee, and from any member of the committee. This is a rare opportunity of hearing the standard operas, for Mr. Hubbard enjoys a wide reputation in his special line, and the talks will be interesting as well as informing. A special piano has been hired for these talks.

—Mr. C. K. Woodbridge of 336 Mystic street, Arlington, leaves this town to take up work with the Loose-Wiles Biscuit Company of Greater New York.

—Mr. Woodbridge has been sales manager of the Boston Sunshine Bakery and will now fill a similar capacity in New York. Mrs. Woodbridge and Miss Janet and Anna will soon join Mr. Woodbridge in making their home in Greater New York.

—The new organization of the young people of the Unitarian church has taken the name of "The Unity Club," and chosen the following officers:—

President, Heath Onthank; vice-pres., Lorenz Rimbach; secretary, Rena Gray; treasurer, Abbott Smith.

It has started with much enthusiasm, holding a monthly Sunday evening meeting and several week evening social gatherings, with an attendance of from forty to fifty. It took a prominent part in the meeting of the South Middlesex Federation at West Newton on Jan. 22, and has in hand plans for further work before spring.

—The Boy Scouts are to have a "Father and Sons Banquet" on Lincoln day, when every Scout will be expected to be present with his father, or with some man. Speeches will be given by Superintendent Scully, and by Mr. Ormond E. Loomis, Scout Commissioner of Boston. Exemplification of scout work will also be given, including knot tying, signalling and first aid to the injured.

—"Young People's Day" will be observed at the Universalist church next Sunday morning, when the entire service will be conducted by the members of the Y. P. C. U. The address will be given by Mr. Samuel Pond, of Worcester, on the subject, "Our attitude toward Christianity and Scientific Biology." Mr. Pond is one of the brightest members of the executive board of the State Y. P. C. U., and a student at Clark University. His address will be most interesting.

—The funeral of Miss Mary F. Reagan was held from her residence, 13 Teele-street-place, Sunday afternoon. At St. Agnes' church prayers for the dead were read by the pastor, Rev. Matthew J. Flaherty. The pallbearers were James Sheehan, Michael Reagan, Patrick Fermoyle, Michael H. Reagan, Daniel Reagan and Thomas Kennedy. Interment was in St. Paul Cemetery. Monday morning in St. Agnes church a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Fr. Flaherty.

—A young man caused some stir in town Monday night, having apparently gone wildly insane and imagined that he was about to be married. He appeared at the home of Rev. Dr. Wood and stated that he came to get married and was to meet a young lady there. Later he left Dr. Wood's home and went to the home of Dr. R. D. Young, where it was seen that the young man was not just right. The police were notified and the young man was taken to the police station for safe keeping. The next morning he was taken to an asylum for observation.

—Miss Etta Richmond, the English teacher in our High school since 1909, relinquished her duties in Arlington on Friday of this week and will begin her services in the Newton Classical High school on Monday, where she has been called at an increase in salary. Miss Richmond has been an especially valuable member of the Arlington High school faculty and has won the enviable regard of her associates as well as a warm place in the hearts of all the pupils who have come under her instruction. It was her inspiration and at her suggestion that the English Club of the school was organized.

application and hard study has the promise of an enviable musical career. Dr. Percy has a charming young niece, whose home is in Bath, and is studying with Madam Eames this winter.

—The various societies connected with the Arlington Universalist church will hold a joint sale, supper and entertainment in the vestry of the church on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, Feb. 9.

—Mr. Francis L. Maguire, of 48 Irving street, sailed from New York upon "The Lapland," Wednesday, Jan. twentieth. His European trip is a business one, and he does not expect to return to America before the last of April.

—Rev. O. P. Gifford, D. D., of Brookline, will preach at First Baptist church Sunday morning in exchange with Dr. Wood. Dr. Gifford is one of the most eloquent and distinguished ministers and preachers of Greater Boston.

—Miss Loraine Eaton, who has taught five years in the Natick High school, has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Etta Richmond, of the High school faculty. Miss Eaton is a graduate of Wellesley, class of 1908.

—Misses Newton, Bucknam, Whittemore, Boston and Rice, librarian and assistants at Robbins Public Library, attended the winter meeting of the Mass. Library Club at Malden on Thursday. In their absence substitutes were in charge at the library.

—Prof. Charles J. Bullock, professor of economics, of Harvard College, will be the speaker at the meeting of Arlington Business Men's Ass'n on Tuesday evening of next week, Feb. 3d, in Grand Army Hall. He will speak on "Taxation," a subject he has made a special study of.

—Owing to change of residence to New York, N. J., Miss Howe, of the Arlington Art Shop, is obliged to offer for sale her business, which is now well established and steadily growing, thanks to the patronage of the ladies of Arlington and vicinity. She will meet by appointment any one wishing to investigate with the idea of purchasing.

—The officers elected at the annual meeting of St. John's parish are as follows:—

Wardens, George W. Chickering, William D. Elwell; treasurer, Frank H. Hubbard; missions treasurer, Arthur O. Yeames; clerk, Paul A. Bassett; vestrymen, Walter B. Ball, Wm. A. Forbes, Robert Lennon, Wm. Marsden, John S. Meserve, Arthur E. Norton, Chas. J. Scott, John F. Scully, Arthur O. Yeames.

—The monthly "Organ Vespers" of the First Parish (Unitarian) church will be held on Sunday, at 5 p. m., when Prof. Homer Humphrey, of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, will be the organist. The service consists of half an hour of music, closing with prayer. All seats are free, and the public is cordially invited.

—The monthly meeting of the Bradshaw Missionary Association will be held on Monday afternoon, February first, in the ladies' parlor of the Pleasant Street church, at three o'clock. Miss Mary L. Daniels of Harpoot, will speak on an interesting missionary theme. Miss Mabel Davis, of this town, will be the soloist of the afternoon and tea will follow the exercises.

—A course of Opera Talks by Mr. Havrah Hubbard (also a pianist), will be held at St. John's Parish House, Wednesday mornings, Feb. 3d, 10th, 17th and Thursday morning, Feb. 25th, at 10.30. It was her inspiration and at her suggestion that the English Club of the school was organized.

Miss Richmond has coached each debate that has been held by the school and has had the satisfaction of seeing her school win in every debate. She is leaving with the kindest regard of all. One way the pupils had of expressing their appreciation was a box of messages put up in the form of powders (a hundred in number) to be taken in doses of one each day.

—At the close of last week's events the Boat Club teams were in fourth place in both the Boston Pin and Newton leagues, while in K. of C. bunch team position was in third place, team two in eleventh. The margin between the leaders in the Boston Pin combination is small and a little more of luck to the A. B. C. team would easily change the standing.

—The owner of the building at 11 Hanover street, Boston, declines to renew the lease to Mr. Alfred E. Myers at what the latter considers a reasonable price, so he will close out and take up a single branch of the business at the trade centre on Washington street. How he proposes to close out his stock is told in an advertisement to-day. It is a genuine half-price sale.

—Next Sunday evening, at the First Baptist church, the address of the evening will be by Mr. F. F. Davidson, president of the Thos. Long Jewelry Co., of Boston, and one of the best known laymen of Boston. His topic will be "The Triumphant Life." Every man in Arlington should hear his eloquent address. It will be a congregational night at this unsectarian but evangelical service, for not only is Mr. Davidson a Congregationalist, but the other welcome guest of the evening will be Mrs. John Dick, who will assist the chorus choir in singing Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer."

—The service at the First Baptist church last Sunday evening was of unusual interest to a large congregation. Dean Wood told of his conversion and baptism 30 years ago, and many others, in an after service, told briefly of their own experience. The song service, under Mr. Leonard Leighton's direction, was one of the best of the year. The choral and organ music were of the best. Delightful interest was shown by all in the beautiful new lighting system, in which all of the lights are placed high in the arches, filling the building with a quiet radiance which is most effective.

—School fraternities are a close second to those larger and more binding groups of men with which we are all familiar. Chauncy Hall of Boston seems to be one of peculiar strength and its annual meetings are full of snap and vim. The 1915 annual reunion was held in Boston, Tuesday evening, and Hon. John H. Hardy, of the Superior Court Bench, was one of the speakers. He made a fine defense of the judiciary against the attack of denunciations advocating "recall." Arlington has quite a bunch of ex-Chauncy Hall boys. Mr. John F. Scully was formerly a teacher there. Among those present on Tuesday evening were Mr. Alfred E. Myers and Messrs. John and Thos. Gray.

—We made brief mention of the house bowling tournament, Boston pins, at the Boat Club, which was concluded last week, but perhaps a fuller summary will be of interest to those interested in this popular sport. Mr. Geo. H. Peirce is director of this department and is to be congratulated on the success of the tournament. It opened last October and three nights each week were given over to the tournament. The first prize was captured by Team 6, made up of:—

George H. Peirce, H. E. Melzer, C. O. Hill, F. A. Meisel and L. S. Woodward, and it had a handicap of 15 pins each string; second prize, Team 4, Jacob Bitzer, C. M. Hunt, E. A. Chadwick, F. Merrill and George B. Rogers, handicap of 15 pins a string; third place tied by Team 8, consisting of Winfield S. Durgin, C. W. Mills, E. A. Appleton, C. A. Patterson and C. R. Hopkins, with Team 10, H. W. Gleason, William C. Rogers, T. T. Cunningham, Edward F. Feering and Walter G. Taplin; Team 8 having a handicap of five pins and the other 10 pins each string.

The prize for the high single string total was won by Irving S. Hill of Team 1, with a score of 141; high three-string total, A. M. Bond of Team 3, with 343; high single team total, Team 6, comprising Herbert W. Cook, Allen Smith, Merrill W. Buxton, A. McKenny and Horace I. Webber, with a score of 537, and it carried off the prize for the highest team total of 1644.

—The Kensington Park Study club met Tuesday afternoon with its president, Mrs. Theodore Everett, 93 Brantwood road, with twenty-one present and three guests. It was the last meeting with Panama as the subject, the next topic to be taken up being South America. The program opened with a short sketch on the Flag of Panama, by Mrs. F. D. Ennis. This was followed by three papers, one on "What does the Panama Canal mean to the United States and to other countries?" by Mrs. W. A. Forbes; the other, "Tolls and Fortifications," by Mrs. Geo. B. C. Rugg; and the third, "General Impressions made by the Isthmus and Canal Exposition of 1915," by Mrs. A. E. Northrup. Mrs. Everett read a short sketch on what Boston would furnish in the way of United States history that would be shown on millions of feet of picture films. Mrs. Ernest Southwick, the secretary of the club, read a paper on the leper colony in Panama. The afternoon was one of special interest and profit and was still further enhanced by a most informing and illuminating talk given by Miss Vida Damon, a guest of the club, who gave her impressions of Panama and South America, where she spent several

BOSTON CALLS SAN FRANCISCO

Direct Telephone Line Open
Across the Continent

SPEECH CARRIED 3500 MILES

Bell Telephone Engineers Extend Long Distance Line to the Pacific Coast—Science and Inventive Genius Finally Overcome Great Obstacles

WHAT IT MEANS TO
TELEPHONE FROM BOS-TON TO SAN FRANCISCO

Distance—3505 miles.
Twelve States Covered.
Miles of Copper Wire—14,020.
Weight of Wire—Over 3000 tons.
Poles on Line—Over 140,000.
Speed—One-fifteenth of second.

Crossing the continent—from Boston to San Francisco—in one-fifteenth of a second is an actual accomplishment. Direct conversation between the two cities so far apart was established for the first time, the other day, over the longest telephone line in the world—more than 3500 miles. The successful consummation of this great work is an epoch in history—the acme of telephone attainment. It is an achievement made possible only by the scientific study and persistent effort of the engineers of the great Bell system.

Think for a moment what the opening of the Boston-San Francisco direct line means. It has made Massachusetts and California neighbors. It will carry the business message from the Atlantic to the Pacific quicker than a man can write a letter and it gives him an answer at once. It has annihilated distance. Its commercial value is priceless.

Boston Men Built the Line
Across twelve states! Do you realize what that means? Have you ever traveled to the far west? On the fastest trains it takes five days and five nights—120 hours—to go from Boston to San Francisco. And yet it will only be a little while before the business man can sit comfortably in his office and travel instantly by telephone between the two cities over tons of copper wire.

Professor Bell's First Telephone

The opening of this line has a peculiar significance to the people of Boston and New England, for it was in Boston that Professor Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone in 1876, less than forty years ago. A little later the longest toll line in the world stretched from Boston to Lowell and the service was poor and intermittent. How marvellous has been the progress.

And the men who were associated with Bell in those telephone pioneer

Telephoning over such a great distance would have been absolutely impossible without another wonderful invention—the repeating, or loading coils. Without any technical description, it is sufficient to say that these loading coils are placed at various points along the line and give the electrical waves additional force and power.

The line from Boston to San Francisco runs direct to Buffalo, 465 miles; thence to Chicago, 605 miles, to Omaha 500 miles, to Denver 885 miles, to Salt Lake City 580 miles and to San Francisco 770 miles, a total of 3505 miles.

A spur line runs from Chicago to Pittsburg, 545 miles, and thence to New York, 390 miles. Another spur connects Buffalo and New York, 350 miles.

On the same day the line between Boston and San Francisco was opened telephone conversation was established between New York and San Francisco. Professor Bell talked from the New York end and his early associate, Thomas A. Watson, from San Francisco.

An interesting fact in connection with the opening of this line is that Professor Bell used at the New York end an exact reproduction of his first crude instrument. At first it could be used only a few feet. That that instrument could be used in talking between New York and San Francisco is due to the skill and inventions of those engineers who followed Bell after his retirement from the telephone business, in the perfection of the telephone and of switchboards, cables and the hundreds of other accessories to successful telephone transmission.

Looking Backward to the Beginning
On the evening of Oct. 9, 1876, the first long conversation over the telephone was made by Bell and Watson. They talked for three hours over a telegraph line between Boston and Cambridge. It was the wonder of the day. In May, 1877, a Charles-town man leased two telephones—the first money ever paid for telephone service. The same month the first tiny and crude telephone exchange was born with five telephones connected.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William M. Stockbridge, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to him, or some other suitable person, the executor named in said will having deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the ninth day of February, A. D. 1915, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the ARLINGTON ADVOCATE, a newspaper published in Arlington, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, CHARLES J. MCINTIRE, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this sixteenth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen.

Newspapers Have Rights.

People (some people) seem to think they have no rights that newspapers are bound to respect. Perhaps this is true with some, but there are others. Newspapers have had reason to fear they had no rights the law was bound to respect. Both classes are probably only partially right. Few editors will forget what a fight they had before simplest justice was wrung from unwilling law makers in the matter of libel. The sanctity of the confessional, the offices of doctor and lawyer have always been recognized, but confidences between news gatherers and sources of information have been placed in another class. Time and again men have been imprisoned for contempt of court through refusal to divulge in open court, sources of information. At length this matter has been fought to a finish, and the Supreme Court upholds sacredness of the confidential relations existing between the newspaper reporter and the informer. Though long time coming the newspaper man has gained a fair legal status.

The decision of the court as given above, coupled with personal experiences covering a somewhat lengthened period, leads us to wonder if there is any one of our readers who does not, down deep in the inner consciousness, believe he or she could make a better paper than we have or can. This we will not dispute. The letters we have received would fill quite a volume, but we must confess a density that has prevented following suggestions. The mistake with most people is that newspapers form public opinion. At the best they can only stimulate or direct. This does not mean newspapers are simply something to show the drift of a shifting breeze. The editor studies the drift of public opinion and prints that which he hopes will reach the intellect and conscience. Often the things he omits are more important than the things he prints. His standing in a community and his success in his business adventure hinge on his not making mistakes in this matter. He must know public sentiment before he can remove prejudices and lead along the pathway of success to a desired end and with him patience must have her perfect work.

The first unmistakable sign that Germany is feeling the pinch of the war for which she is mainly responsible is found in the order made public this week that confiscates all the grain in that great empire and places it absolutely in government control. Only an extraordinary necessity could have called for this drastic action; it shows a suspected shortage of food stuffs is real and that means of meeting that shortage are uncertain. The perfect preparedness shown by Germany when war was declared naturally gave the impression that in the matter of food stuffs equal provision had been made to tide over the months before a new harvest could be housed. Evidently sufficient allowance has not been made for the wastefulness of several million men to be fed daily in widely separated and frequently changing locations, to losses by destruction of supply trains and through capture by the enemy, and that only the most strict and careful conservation of the stock now on hand will suffice to meet the situation. The worst of all this is that the army will be cared for regardless of all other considerations.

Representative Jacob Bitzer has made his bow to fellow members in the Legislature and created a favorable impression by his "maiden speech." The question before the House was an appropriation which Mr. Bitzer had reported as chairman of ways and means committee, which was opposed on the ground of economy, and a motion to abolish the board of efficiency and economy. Mr. Bitzer declared that the question of the abolition of the board was not before his committee; that the only proposition before them was whether the requested appropriation was justified and they had found in the affirmative. He declared that if the legislature should later decide to abolish the board, which is very unlikely, the money would be returned to the state treasury. House Chairman John B. Hull of the Ways and Means Committee supported Rep. Bitzer and the House passed the appropriation by an overwhelming vote.

A Boston paper makes a rather vigorous kick against "removals in the office of the state treasurer." We are quite sure investigation will show simply reinstatement of faithful people removed from places when a Democrat came in as treasurer a year ago.

On page two of to-day's issue we publish a three column story, illustrated, of the new direct telephone line from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, officially opened this week. We believe everyone will find it well worth reading.

Boston has reason to congratulate itself on a notable achievement. It was seven years ago that the movement to get a new and adequate Custom House for Boston was organized. Now the new Custom House is a reality—materialized in granite and steel. Materialized, moreover, in a tower of surpassing grace and beauty, that must be for all time the conspicuous mark of the Boston skyline. Friday's dedication, impressive in its simple ceremonies, celebrates the faithful service of those who labored so long and so earnestly to make this new building a possibility. Out of many opinions and many suggestions and delays and tribulations and long labors, the reality has come at last—a tower of strength and beauty and serviceableness.

Plans for the immediate expenditure of $500,000 for gypsy moth operations and for the placing of 3000 men who are now unemployed at work, are being considered by Governor Walsh and State Forester Frank W. Rane. The $500,000 in question will have to be spent this year anyway. Mr. Rane says this work can best be done at this time of the year because the moth egg clusters are comparatively easy to get at now. Any man, clerk or laborer, can do the work, he says, without previous experience or instruction. The State forester says that he can start at once upon the work if authorized to do so, and that these operations will furnish work for men all over the State.

Theatre Notes.

"Too Many Cooks," Frank Craven's comedy of suburban life at the Plymouth Theatre, is one of the most wholesome kind and moves with the regularity of a 17-jewelled watch. It is as sweet as a June breeze and has not a single bluish. It shows the funny side of a loving couple trying to build a little cottage within commuting distance, while a long line of family relations look on and start two arguments for every shingle. It is a racy, pungent fling at the business of "butting in" which parents and friends of young lovers are prone to indulge in. It is the best comedy that has visited Boston in a long time and is destined to repeat its great New York success. The management announces a popular priced Thursday matinee. The prices of the orchestra seats on Thursday will be $1.00 and $1.50. On Saturday matinee the regular prices will prevail.

John Cort, who controls a chain of theatres that reaches from Boston to San Francisco, finds time to make more or less presumptuous productions yearly. One of his new plays is a musical farce entitled "What's Going On," with an important cast of players among whom are Walter Lawrence, Frances Cameron, Dorothy Webb, Roy Atwell, Knox Wilson, Doyle and Dixon and a real singing and dancing chorus. The most successful of the season's entertainments appear to be made up from the three essentials, dance, song and speed, and it has been said that Mr. Cort has injected into his new farce enough of these elements to satisfy the most exacting. Mr. Cort has equipped the play with every scenic "prop" and light effect that have always made his productions notable ones. On account of the rather unexpected closing of "Peg," the Cort Theatre has been dark this week, in order to give the new play time to arrive in Boston and will positively open Monday evening, February 1st.

Miss Billie Burke will be the attraction at the Hollis Street Theatre, for a few weeks beginning Monday, February 1, when she will appear in "Jerry," the comedy in which she scored one of her biggest successes at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, last spring. Also in which she has been playing to packed houses in many cities this season. "Jerry" is a spoiled and precocious miss from Chicago, who comes on a visit to her relatives in a Philadelphia suburb and proceeds straightway to imbue them with the true Chicago spirit. In less than a week she has captured the man who has been betrothed to her patient aunt for twenty years—captured him and led him off to the altar. How she does this—that is the play. It is a very amusing play and it enables Miss Burke, who impersonates "Jerry," of course, to wear a lot of pretty frocks as well as the famous pink pajamas and to display her charming personality to the very best possible advantage. As usual, Charles Frohman has given his popular star a fine supporting company, which includes Shelley Hull, Selene Johnson, Alice John, H. Lawrence Layton, Thomas Reynolds and Edwin Beach. He has given the play some very beautiful stage settings too. Matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Three years ago, Miss Hazel Dawn, a beautiful blonde, who is now at the Colonial Theatre, burst into view on Broadway as Cissoline in "The Pink Lady," and ever since that has been one of the favorite young women of the stage. So rapid has been her rise in the profession that in this short space of time she is now at the head of her own company and is bidding for stellar honors, in unquestionably the largest and most magnificent musical organization seen in Boston in recent years. "The Debutante," which is the title of the opera, is the collaborative effort of Victor Herbert, who wrote the music score, Harry B. Smith, of the book and Robert B. Smith, of the lyrics. She is being presented by John C. Fisher, the noted producer of "Florodora," "The Silver Slipper" and other famous musical successes. He has engaged to support the young star the following well known players: Will West, Frank Doane, Stewart Baird, Robert G. Pitkin, Carl Ganvoort, Zee Barnet, Mande Odell, Sylvia Jason, J. Abbott Worthley and Thomas Reynolds.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Cambridge Social Union is to be held in the Cambridge Hall, on this Friday evening, January 29th. Dancing from 8 p. m. until 1 a. m., whist 8 to 10 p. m., basket ball in game room, and other attractions. Tickets 50 cents. Children's entertainment Saturday, January 30th, at 2 o'clock. Dancing after the entertainment. Admission 10 cents.

Brief News Items.

We are told that February will have no full moon, but that in March we shall see two.

It is planned to send another Belgian relief ship to the destitute in that country, from Boston, about the first of March.

According to statistics gathered, there is more building going on in New England than ever before at this season of the year.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in giving testimony on Tuesday, stated that his father's gifts to the charitable institutions amounted to $250,000,000.

Wm. T. Jerome has been paid for his services as special deputy attorney general to prosecute the Shaw case and notified his services are no longer required.

The members of the Boston Market Gardeners' Association held their 28th annual banquet at Young's Hotel Wednesday night, more than 200 persons being present.

Woman Suffrage has gained its point. The committee of the Legislature which gave a hearing on the petition to present the question to the voters, has voted to report favorably.

Nothing in any way sensational attended the return of Harry K. Shaw to the jurisdiction of New York courts, after more than a year of partial freedom. The trip was made last Sunday.

Wednesday was a birthday for Emperor William of Germany. The event was quietly observed and many congratulatory messages were received. There was a large gathering on Boston Common.

The European war has brought to light the rather singular fact that there is a sufficient number of Hindus living in Canada to provide a full regiment of men qualified to serve in the British army.

E. Gerry Brown has abandoned his endeavor to have his removal from office probed by the Legislature. He feels that enough was brought out at hearings to prove he was removed without good cause.

The new Wellington bridge, destroyed by fire last April, has reached the stage when cars can be run over it, but it will be several weeks before the same can be made ready for general traffic over it.

Direct communication between Boston and San Francisco by a single wire and without relays was opened on Jan. 25. The Mayors of the two cities conversed over the line, then others were given a chance. A stretch of 3545 miles has established a new record for the long-distance telephone.

A naval battle in the North Sea between the British and German warships, seems to have resulted in a signal victory for the British fleet. One German battleship was sunk, two others seriously damaged and the balance of the fleet retreated. Two British ships were damaged but there were few fatalities.

Hon. Samuel W. McCall announces he will try for the Republican nomination for Governor next fall. This brings forward Lieut. Gov. Cushing as a rival for this honor and Councillor Gay A. Ham says he will try for second place on the ticket. Compared with preceding years, this is taking an early start.

Alabama will become a prohibition state July 1, under the related measure which became law on Jan. 22, without executive approval. The prohibition measures reenact the law repealed in 1911 after it had been in force two years. Under the 1911 local option law all but eight of the 67 counties have voted for prohibition.

Ed. Burton Holmes maintains that if ever there was a land pre-eminently lovable, it is the emerald division of the British Empire. Mr. Holmes visited this country during the last summer. It was Mr. Holmes' second visit, and he added to his collection a complete series of pictures of the Ireland of 1914. He arrived there at the moment of the Ulster crisis; he left during the mobilization for the great European war. He was fortunate in securing excellent motion pictures of each of these incidents. He will begin his next Travelogue with a visit to Belfast, the city of linen and ships, and will show a series of pictures of the prosperous Belfast of to-day. In Connemara and Galway, in Limerick and Tipperary, he finds hundreds of pretty maidens and their bewitching smiles, and after showing and describing the beauties of Killarney, and that fine old city of Dublin, he closes with a tour of County Wicklow. Mr. Holmes will give "Ireland" at Symphony Hall this Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, January 29th and 30th.

Reunion at 'YouSay'

On Saturday afternoon, Jan. 23d, at Freeman N. Young's camp, "YouSay," on Mystic street, Arlington, the "Junior Baseball Players" of Massachusetts 1873, 1884 and 1875 Association held a reunion at which several were added to the membership, four coming by letter, one as far away as Philadelphia. The association is made up of the "boys" who played baseball before glove, chest protector, shin guards or mask came into vogue, as crooked fingers or crooked noses seen at this time can readily attest. Mr. Young was the host of the occasion. Charles P. Connor of Arlington, who joined the association a short time ago, attended his first meeting to-day. As he stood on the lower floor of the camp, W. H. Hawes, of Lowell, called him by name, though the men had not met since 1874, when they played ball against each other.

Freeman N. Young was elected president; John F. Morrill of Boston, a member of the old Stars, vice-president; Arthur F. Salmon of Lowell (Bartlett), a member of the Bartletts, secretary; Frank Marshall of Boston, of the Actons, treasurer; Dr. A. H. Gilson of Quincy, of the King Phillips, Charles A. Beal of Rockland, of the Actives, and J. W. White of Boston, of the old Lowells, board of governorship. The secretary reported that a number whose names appear on the old score books had not yet been accounted for and it was voted to send broadcast a circular letter to round up all the players of the old association. Those who took part in the reminiscences were:—

Freeman N. Young of Arlington (Bartlett), Arthur F. Salmon of Lowell (Bartlett), A. B. Raymond of South Weymouth (Actives), J. W. Shaw of South Weymouth (Actives), H. B. Reed of South Weymouth (Actives), C. H. Clapp of South Weymouth (Actives), Dr. A. H. Gilson of Quincy (King Phillips), S. W. Underhill of East Lexington (Hickorys), Frank Marshall of Boston (Actons), G. L. Morrison of West Roxbury (King Phillips), Henry Boynton of Lowell (Lowells), J. J. Guthrie of Lowell (Excelsiors), L. A. Paulin of Lowell (Lowells), A. S. Ashworth of Lowell (Bartlett), Frank Hayes of Lowell (J. Pigott of Somerville (Lowells), F. W. Lydston of Boston (Athletics), William Marston of Boston (Mutuals), J. J. Hayes of Lowell (Lowells), C. P. Connor of Arlington (Stars), H. H. Joy of South Weymouth (Actives), W. H. Hawes of Lowell (Bartlett), W. T. Foye of Lowell (Lowells), Dr. Amasa Howard of Chelmsford (Bartlett), Wm. H. Parker of Brookline the umpire.

Missionary Rally

Tuesday evening upward of 150 young women attended the rally held in the First Baptist Church, Arlington, under the auspices of the Woman's American Baptist Home Missionary Society. There were 23 societies represented, delegates coming from Lexington, Waverley, Boston, Brookline, Somerville and Cambridge, it being a Baptist North Rally. At 5:30 the young women assembled, and for an hour an informal reception was held. At 6:30 a supper was served. The tables were decorated with roses, the feature being in charge of Miss Patrician, Messrs. Mary Holman, and M. Higgins. Each of the young ladies on the committee wore an apron representing a huge rose. Miss Mary R. Stark, president of the north branch of the association presided.

Following the supper Miss Mary Huston, New England secretary of the Home Missionary Society, gave a report of the work of her branch, and Miss Grace Mosley of Needham State director, gave a report of her office, and Miss Frances E. McDuffee, superintendent of the Northfield Camp, told of the work being done there. A roll call was held, Miss Stark calling the roll. The guest of the evening was Miss Isabel Crawford, a missionary among the Indians. Miss Crawford appeared in Indian costume and told a very interesting story of her work. The local committee in charge of the evening was Miss Olive Hastings, chairman; Mrs. Isabella Wood, Miss Helen Patrician, Mary Holman, Anna Olsen, Mrs. Lyndon Goodwin, Blanche King, Helen Wetherbee, Florence Van Rensselaer and Mrs. John Blarney. The attractions were Miss Nellie Clare, Eunice Olson, Ruth McClellan, May McClellan, Pauline Hatfield and Helen Patrician.

Wm. A. Stevens Deceased

After a considerable period of total prostration from an incurable disease, William A. Stevens died at his home on Westmainer avenue, Arlington, last Tuesday. Probably no man in the state was more widely known among Sons of Veterans or more generally admired and trusted. He served two terms as Division Commander, S. of V., and filled other important offices. He was keen, bright, active, unusually gifted as a public speaker and consequently was often called on for addresses and Memorial Day orations. With Camp 45 of Arlington his relations were close and intimate. He served in several capacities, was Commander of the Camp for a number of terms and for fourteen years he has been the treasurer.

Mr. Stevens was born in Cambridge, April 16, 1857, and was the son of Col. Stevens, who was conspicuous in the cavalry arm of the U. S. service in the Civil war. In his early young manhood he was employed in the Boston Post-office. Later he was transferred to the West Roxbury office, and proved to be specially well qualified for the place. In recent years he has been engaged in insurance business and work with S. C. V. D. He was also a member of Hiram Lodge of Masons and other associations affiliating with S. of V.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Etta Drew Stevens, who has filled all important stations in W. R. C. No. 43; also one brother and five sisters. They are Fred L. Stevens of Chelsea, Mrs. Sherman Sanborn, Voburn, Mrs. A. A. Crane and Mrs. Irving Lawrence of Brookline, Mrs. Addie Pettengill, Brookline, Mrs. Jennie Barrett, Providence. The funeral is set for Friday, Jan. 29th, at 2:30, at his late residence.

Sarah Symmes Deceased

Sarah Symmes, one of Arlington's oldest residents, died Jan. 21st, of pneumonia, after only a few days' illness, at her home, 44 Mystic street. Miss Symmes was the daughter of Stephen and Priscilla Reed Symmes, and was born in West Cambridge, now Arlington. She belonged to the Symmes family which owned a large tract of land on Mystic street, deeded to them by Squaw Sachem, and on which the deceased had lived nearly all her life. Miss Symmes was the sister of Mr. Stephen Symmes who gave the money that built our Arlington hospital, which is named for Mr. Symmes. If she had lived until Thursday of this week Miss Symmes would have been ninety-one years of age, and relatives were arranging to observe the day.

For the past ten years Miss Symmes had the constant and devoted care of Miss Abbie M. Lord, and her life has been made happy by her solicitous care. She was interested in all that pertained to Arlington and kept in touch with all its improvements. She was especially interested in the Orthodox Cong'l church, of which Rev. S. C. Bushnell has been minister for nearly twenty-five years, and was its second oldest member. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 24th, from the church and Mr. Bushnell made it a beautiful memorial to the deceased, whom he had known intimately.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale in a certain mortgage deed given by Domenico Gineisti to Ira A. Abbott dated November 5, 1913 and recorded with Middlesex Registry of Deeds, South District, Book 3386, Page 312, and for breach of the condition of said mortgage, will be sold at public auction upon the premises on Saturday, the 20th day of February 1915 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely Two parcels of land in that part of Arlington in our County of Middlesex, called Arlington Heights. The first is bounded as follows:—Beginning at the northeast corner thereof by Paul Revere Road and at the northeast corner of lot six (6) on a plan of land of Ira A. Abbott, by J. O. Goodwin Surveyor, made April 1888, recorded with Middlesex South District, Book of Plans 112, Plan 8; thence running southerly by lot four (4) on said plan one hundred twenty-seven and forty-four one-hundredths (127.44) feet to a stake and land lately conveyed by Abbott to Garrett; thence turning and running westerly by said Garrett land, in a line parallel with and fifty (50) feet northerly from the southerly line of lot six (6) and lot eight (8), about one hundred ninety-eight (198) feet to lot twelve (12) on said plan; thence northerly by lot twelve (12) about twenty-nine and seventeen one-hundredths (29.17) feet to the northeast corner of lot thirteen (13); thence northerly by the part of lot thirteen (13) lately conveyed by Abbott to Morris, fifty-five (55) feet; thence southwesterly by land conveyed by said Abbott to said Morris about eighty-four (84) feet to Tanager Street; thence westerly by said Tanager Street two hundred seventy-four and ninety-eight one-hundredths (274.98) feet more or less to land now or late of William H. White, being a part of lot twenty-one (21) on said plan; thence northerly by the last named land one hundred twenty-five (125) feet to lot twenty-five (25) on said plan; thence westerly by lot twenty-one (21) and lot twenty-two (22) on said plan and lot one (1) on plan recorded with said Deeds, Book of Plans 101, Plan 2, one hundred twenty-five and four hundred one-hundredths (125.14) feet to land of owners unknown; thence northerly by land of owners unknown three hundred forty-four and thirty-two one-hundredths (344.32) feet to Paul Revere Road; thence easterly by said road five hundred ninety and seventy-one one-hundredths (590.71) feet to the point begun at.

The second parcel is bounded as follows:—Beginning at the westerly corner thereof by Tanager Street and a corner of lot seventeen (17) and nineteen (19) on a recorded plan of land of Nichol & Abbott, by J. O. Goodwin Surveyor, January 1897, recorded with said Deeds, Book of Plans 101, Plan 2, thence running northerly and easterly by Tanager Street three hundred seven and eighty-eight (307.88) feet to land now or late of Samuelson; thence running southerly by the last named land one hundred twenty-five (125) feet to land now or late of Palmer; thence westerly by land of owners unknown one hundred sixty-two (162) feet to the point begun at, being lots twelve (12) and sixteen (16) and the westerly part of lot ten (10), fifty (50) feet in width throughout on said last named plan. All said land is hereby conveyed subject to the restrictions that no building except a dwelling house to cost at least twenty-five hundred dollars if adapted to the use of only one family and that no building shall be erected or placed thereon that no part of any building shall be placed on lot twelve (12) or the part of lot ten (10) in a second parcel, at a less distance than fifteen (15) feet from Tanager Street; and that no part of any building shall be placed on any other portion of either parcel at a less distance than fifteen (15) feet from the street on which it fronts. Being the land to me conveyed this day by deed of said Abbott.

The mortgagee by the acceptance of this mortgage agrees that from time to time, at the request of the mortgagor, his heirs or assigns, and at his or their expense, provided that at the time he or they shall not be in default as to any of the terms or conditions of the mortgage, he will give releases of portions of said land and on payment to him of a sum fairly proportioned to the value of the portion to be released, as compared with the value of all then subject to the mortgage, taking into consideration location and grade. Excepting however, the easterly portion of the second parcel measuring one hundred twenty and fifty-four one-hundredths (120.54) feet from Tanager Street and one hundred twenty (120) feet at the rear by land of owners unknown, which has been released by the mortgagee in accordance with the provisions of said mortgage. A cash payment of five hundred dollars ($500) will be required from the purchaser at the time and place of sale and payment of the balance of the purchase price will be required within ten days from the day of sale, but the mortgagee will accept instead of cash, a mortgage on easy terms for a reasonable portion of said balance. Domenico Gineisti is believed to be the owner of the equity of redemption.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS LOCALS

—The Singers' Club is rehearsing for an operetta that will be one of the attractions in the coming month.

—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schnitzer will entertain the members of the K. P. G. Club, next Tuesday evening, at their home on Hillside avenue.

—Mr. Freeman, the builder, has the cellar dug for a two-family house he is to erect for his own occupancy at the corner of Hillside avenue and Appleton street.

—The Nichols class is holding a social this (Friday) evening in the Park Avenue Cong'l church. Prof. Markham, of Harvard College, will talk on "Iron and Steel."

—Mrs. George Clark has been appointed chairman of the social committee of the Friday Social Club, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Jack Martin.

—The sidewalks in this section of the town were almost impassable on Monday afternoon, caused by the sleet and rain that came after a slight fall of snow. One had to C Sharp or they would B flat.

—The United Helpers of the Baptist church are to give a supper in the vestry next Wednesday night, from six until eight o'clock, the proceeds to go into the fund the ladies are raising towards the paying off the church debt.

—The friends of the Jack Martins regret their contemplated removal from the Heights. Mrs. Martin has been an active and valuable worker in the Friday Social Club. We hear the family is contemplating moving to Portland, Me.

—While skating on the ice last Sunday, John Perley was accidentally run into by another skater and knocked down and his collar bone was broken. Dr. Melick was called and set the bone. It was found to have been a bad break, for which no one was responsible.

—Miss Edna Byram, of 26 Florence avenue, one of Arlington's most talented young people, will take part in a recital at the Faellen Pianoforte School, Thursday evening, Feb. 4. She will play "Red Riding Hood," by Bendel. This is a fascinating suite of short descriptive pieces suggested by the famous fairy tale.

—Friday, Jan. 29th, the Fourth Methodist Concert Club of Boston will give an entertainment in the Methodist church, under auspices of the Epworth League. The club sings Plantation melodies and has been giving this concert in many towns and cities about Boston. Adult ticket twenty-five cents; children, fifteen cents. Concert is at eight o'clock.

—There will be an open meeting of the Study Club on the afternoon of Feb. 11th at the home of Mrs. George Clark, held under the auspices of the Civics Committee, Miss Maymie Simpson chairman. Dr. Henry G. Metcalf, professor of Economics at Tufts College, will address the meeting on "Household Economics." The meeting is at 2:30 and ladies not members of the club are especially invited.

—On the evening of Friday, Jan. 22d, the Westminster A. C., a newly formed athletic club, met at the home of Walter Ryan, 56 Mt. Vernon street. Refreshments were served after the business meeting, and piano solos and songs took up the remainder of the evening. Miss Winifred Ryan presiding at the piano. At a previous meeting the following officers were elected: President, Irving Estey; vice-pres., Francis O'Connell; secretary, Daniel Clifford; treasurer, Frank Hatch. Preparations are being made for a dance to be held in New Town Hall, Feb. 15.

—Mrs. Frank Foxcroft, of Cambridge, addressed a large company of ladies on Monday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Alexander Livingstone of Cliff street. Mrs. Foxcroft spoke intelligently as well as entertainingly, giving her reasons why she was opposed to the further extension of suffrage. At the close of the talk the hostess served delicious sandwiches, fancy crackers, salted nuts and tea and coffee. The prettily arranged tea table was presided over by Miss Maymie Simpson and Miss Mabelle Perry, who were assisted by Miss Agnes Livingstone. Mrs. B. A. Norton and Mrs. Alton Tupper were present from the center of the town.

—Dr. H. Ines, of the Morgan Memorial church of Boston, gave an interesting stereopticon lecture in Park Avenue Congregational church, Jan. 22d, under the auspices of the Friday Social Club. In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. Herbert Mead, who was detained at home by reason of illness, Mrs. George Clark, who is the chairman of the social committee, introduced the speaker. Dr. Helmes, who gave an idea, by word of mouth as well as by the pictures thrown on the screen, of the work of the Morgan Memorial is doing, which is of a philanthropic nature, as well as a business enterprise, for the people.

ple who reside in that section of the city where the church is situated, which is on Shawmut avenue. It was to be regretted that there were not more present to hear the lecture. Refreshments were served at the close of Dr. Helmes' talk, under the direction of Mrs. Wm. Blasdale and Mrs. Cathart.

—At the Lynn Dog Show, last Thursday and Friday, Vincent P. Lusk won first in the limit and second in the open class with "Gov. Ruby"; second in the American Breed class with Bud Chandon, and second in the Novice class with Vin-Lusk Dot, and also received two special prizes.

—Rev. Henry A. Atkinson, secretary of the Social Service Commission of the National Congregational Council, will address the Nichols class of the Park Avenue church, at its regular session at 12:10 p. m. next Sunday, the 31st. The class invites the ladies as well as the men to come and hear him.

—Miss Minnie Hayden, of Mt. Vernon street, gave a recital in Stelbert Hall, Boston, on Saturday afternoon of last week, when her pupil, Mr. Almon Oakes, was heard in various baritone solos, accompanied by Miss Hayden on the piano. The recital was attended by many of the artist's friends, pupils of Miss Hayden and neighbors.

—The Neighborhood Bridge Whist club held its annual banquet Wednesday evening, at the Quincy House, Boston, after which there was a theatre party at the Hollis Street theatre. The club is composed of twelve couples. Those who attended on Wednesday evening were the Herbert M. Boylston, Benj. Thomas, Arthur Sousters, Frank Whites, Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Brooks.

—At the annual meeting of the Sunday school connected with Park Avenue Cong'l church, last Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected:—Secretary, Arthur S. Spencer; asst. sec'y and librarian, David Crockett; treas., Miss Ethel Ober; pianist, Miss Edith Byram; supt. primary dept., Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs; pianist, Miss Ida Jenkins. The enrollment of the school is two hundred and forty, over which Mr. E. W. Nicholl is superintendent, appointed by the church.

—On Jan. 21st an entertainment was given in the vestry of the Baptist church, under the auspices of the Choral Club of the church. Mr. M. F. Jolliff, of the Edison Laboratories of Boston, gave a recital upon the Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph and Miss Minnie Frazine of the Emerson College of Oratory delighted the audience with two groups of readings, rendered in most artistic manner. Both Mr. Jolliff and Miss Frazine contributed their services, so that practically the entire proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of music for the choir, for which purpose the entertainment was given.

—We have heard rumors to the effect that the Wright property, which adjoins what is spoken of as the "Farmer estate," on Appleton street, and running through to Massachusetts avenue, has been sold to an out of town syndicate, who contemplate erecting some thirty houses. We have, however, not been able to verify the rumor. Rumor also has it that the Farmer property, so called, has been sold to two Arlington business men. In our issue of last week, Wm. E. Gratto, Inspector of Buildings, announced a permit granted to S. Franklin Sutherland, of Somerville, to erect two two-family houses on lots 2 and 18 Massachusetts avenue, near Appleton street.

—The Study Club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. Herbert Mead and the president, Mrs. T. L. Quimby in the chair. After the usual business the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Sarah Patterson, who presented the subject of the afternoon, which was "The Women of Genius." Mrs. Patterson spoke briefly of a number of women prominent in the world of letters and gave a resume of "The life of Alice Freeman Palmer," written by Geo. R. Palmer, and the book, "Tante" by Anne Douglas Sedgwick. Mrs. Garrett followed with an interesting paper on "The Women of Genius," by Austin, and a number of women of great artistic ability. Dr. Barbara Ring then gave a talk on women well known in the scientific world, such as Maria Mitchell, Ellen Richards and Madam Curie. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee during the social hour which followed.

—On the evening of Jan. 21st Company 4 of the Boys' Brigade held a prize drill in the Methodist church vestry, which was attended by one hundred and fifty friends of the company. The evening was arranged by the drill master, Chester Savage, with Mr. L. M. L. Emig the minister, as commandant and Frank Hatch, lieutenant of the company, which numbers thirty-five. Three cups were given as prizes and were won by Sergeant Roberts, Corporal Danton and Private Hannah. The judges were Capt. Wooler of Company A, Arlington, and Capt. Magnuson of Company G, Cambridge. During the evening an orchestra gave selections and a male quartette, composed of Messrs. Danton, Reed, Higgins and Landers, sang acceptably. One of the interesting features of the evening was the exhibition drill of the "setting up" exercises, given by the non commissioned officers.

—Arlington Civic League met in Crescent Hall, Tuesday evening, with some sixty-five present and President Boylston in the chair. The topic for the evening was a consideration of town finances. Mr. Geo. A. Wood, of this town, gave a paper on "The Theory of Municipal Finances." This had been thoughtfully and carefully prepared and was well presented. Mr. O. W. Whittemore, chairman of the Board of Assessors, was heard in connection with the affairs of his office and described the working and methods of the Board in an interesting and informing way. Mr. Edward A. Bailey, the tax collector, read a paper descriptive of the details as regards the taxes and the manner in which the affairs of collector's department is run. Following this the meeting was open to discussion by those present and many interesting facts were developed thereby. It was a lively discussion but a good-natured one, and the papers and questions helped very materially in giving many present a much better idea of these branches of our town affairs than they had had previously. The next meeting of the League will be the Tuesday evening, Feb. 23d.

Milady's Mirror

Avoid Nervous Grimacing.
A great destroyer of beauty lines in the face is the nervous twisting of the lips and grimaces. Many women are guilty of these when talking. They are unbecoming habits and are the means of developing many ugly lines and wrinkles that prematurely age one.

Time, worry and habit are three things that line the forehead with furrows and bring a sagging condition of the muscles, especially affecting the muscles under the chin. When these muscles lose their elasticity the result is the unsightly double chin.

The reason that furrows (wrinkles) make their appearance on the countenance of an aged person is due to the fact that the fat underlying the skin becomes absorbed. Consequently the cuticle loosens and becomes wrinkled. To remedy this condition gently massage these parts with good skin food; then before retiring adjust a forehead band which has been anointed with skin food. This should be worn each night.

Sagging cheek muscles may be strengthened and contracted with massage and an astringent lotion and, as has been said before, tightly bound up overnight with a band—either muslin or rubber.

In regard to premature wrinkles caused by worry or habits, they should not only be treated with massage, as previously directed, but one should learn to control the muscles to obtain a calm and pleasant expression, which is a great aid to beauty.

Quite often the figure of a pretty girl is spoiled by stooping shoulders, a contracted chest or a careless, slouching gait. Yet by devoting a little spare time every day to some physical exercises these evils may be overcome. Many and various are the forms of calisthenics. The daily use of dumbbells will strengthen all the muscles of the arms and chest and at the same time promote a free circulation of the blood.

Then there is the expander. This is formed of a strip of the very strongest kind of elastic, with loops or handles at each end to hold. It can easily be made at home. It should be held in both hands and be slowly expanded and passed over the head. This tends to develop the chest and strengthen the back.

Exercises of this sort should be performed regularly every day, and they must be done steadily, slowly and firmly.

Dress for any form of muscular exercise should be light, flexible and woolen. No corsets should be worn, and the bodice and underclothing must be large enough to allow perfect freedom of the arms.

The Hands in Cold Weather.

To preserve the hands in good condition in cold weather they should, whenever possible, be washed in tepid water, and if this is softened by a teaspoonful of borax so much the better.

Be sure to use a soap of good quality, and when drying the hands take the precaution of rubbing each finger separately.

If the hands are rubbed over once a day with a slice of lemon and a little cold cream or if mutton tallow is rubbed into them thoroughly before going to bed at night there will be little danger of the skin becoming chapped or rough.

Chapped hands are almost always caused by insufficient drying after washing or perhaps the water was icy cold and very hard or used too hot. Both extremes are bad for the skin.

Tonic For the Hands.

An excellent tonic, astringent and bleach for the hands is made from one ounce of strained honey, one ounce of lemon juice, and one ounce of cologne.

Blend thoroughly and rub into the hands at night, then draw on a pair of large kid gloves, having the palms slit for ventilation. Wash off in tepid water in the morning.

Where a woman does her own housework or assists with it to the extent of coming in contact with grime and grease, hot and cold water, the lemon rub after washing the hands will tend to keep them in good condition.

With rubber gloves to wear when housework is done it is possible to shield the hands from strong soap, varying temperatures of water and direct contact with dirt which coarsens the texture of the skin.

Beautiful Gray Hair.

Once gray hair is an accomplished fact and not merely a threat, its possessor soon begins to realize its beauty. It should be frequently shampooed so that it is even in color and smooth in texture, and it should be brushed carefully and regularly and often indulged in sun and air baths.

Gray hair will be of a more uniform shade if borax is put in the water in which it is washed, and if the hair is an ugly yellowish gray or white a little blueing will remove the offensive tinge.

Of course gray hair must be carefully dressed, and the best effects are got when it is slightly undulated and then dressed high on the head or rolled off the ears and brow and into a soft French twist at the back.

NOVELTY COSTUME.

Model That Combines the Harem Skirt and One Piece Blouse.

DARING AFTERNOON GOWN.

The costume novelty illustrated here includes a harem skirt and one piece blouse. The skirt is closed below, and the waist is fashioned of a square of silk. The opening at the neck is cut large enough to permit the blouse to be slipped on over the head. It is fastened without the use of buttons, hooks or eyes. The ribbon hat to match the costume is of corbeau blue taffeta. This striking style novelty was designed by Ora Cne.

COLORED HANDKERCHIEFS.

Dainty and Attractive Ones Are Permissible This Season.

For a long time women viewed the colored handkerchief with aversion, considering that good taste demanded plain white. Of course, the white handkerchief may be used, but the colored handkerchiefs grow more and more dainty and attractive, and beyond a doubt a handkerchief to correspond is now one of the prettiest and most usual accompaniments of a smart toilet.

It is even acknowledged that vivid borders are allowable when the costume demands it, for if the handkerchief has any color at all it must correspond with the gown.

The monogram or initial is always embroidered in color to match the border, and the woman who likes fine work is embroidering and hemming by hand dainty bits of linen for very acceptable gifts for her friends.

Cleaning a Rusted Sink.

Rusted ironware or sinks can easily be cleaned by smearing with fat or grease, then covering with quicklime, which should be left on for a few hours. Wash off with hot water to which a large amount of common soda has been added, and use a cloth tied to a sink broom, so as to avoid touching with the hands.

This is a great help to persons moving into a house which has been vacant a long while and where the sink is all rusted.

Cubist Shades the Latest.

The latest thing in lamp and candle shades are round or pagoda shapes of black with classic figure designs in white or with white ground and the figures in black. They are wonderfully effective when lighted up. Remarkably quaint white and black candle shades in cubist and striped designs are another new fad, and beautiful examples of floral shades, large and small, are also seen.

HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES.

Squeaks in shoes are obliterated by dipping the soles in kerosene.

Red wall paper, especially in a small room, is often trying to the eyes and temper.

A teaspoonful of lemon juice in a cup of black coffee will cure a bilious headache.

The best scrappaskets are the simplest ones, closely woven and free from any decorations of ribbons, etc.

No gritty scouring soap should be used upon the enamel of a bathtub. A powder is much better, and stains may be removed with a brush.

To stiffen starch add to one quart of prepared starch a teaspoonful of gum arabic and one of baking soda; dissolve in a little water and stir well.

Instead of gluing on the handle of an umbrella which is not wearing well, try winding a thread around the stick and then screwing on the handle.

To remove paint from clothing saturate the spots two or three times with equal parts of ammonia and turpentine and then wash out in soap suds.

FOR VALENTINE FROLICS.

Smart New Dance or Dinner Frock For the Pretty Maiden.

PEACHBLOW SILK GOWN.

For the St. Valentine day party, whether it be dinner or dance, the charming frock here pictured will become the average debutante. It is carried out in peachblow, a shade that harmonizes charmingly with the roses and lilies of youthful complexions. The material used is a soft, lustrous taffeta. The surplice bodice is draped loosely over the shoulder and finished with an edging of cream fillet lace. The skirt is one of the most up to date in line and cut. It has the smart hip yoke, gathered in this case, and skirt with the correct flare. The effect of the latter is heightened by the scalloped facing of black velvet around the hem. The wide girde is of black velvet ribbon.

ENAMELING A BEDSTEAD.

How to Do Over an Old One to the Best Advantage.

If you wish to enamel an iron bedstead first rub the marred paint smooth with fine sandpaper. Do this gently, so as not to roughen what paint remains upon the iron. If you can get it all off it will be better, for then you will have a uniform surface. This done, go all over the bedstead with white enamel paint, which is sold at paint shops and by some druggists. Use a broad brush and sweep it smoothly and evenly over the iron until all is covered.

Let the first coat get perfectly dry before applying the second. Three coats may be necessary to make the whole of the dark iron white. The advantage of a white enamel apart from the pleasing effect is that it may be renewed when it becomes defaced and that it will be the better for each renewal.

Workmanship Counts.

The best designs in smart jewelry are remarkable even more for exquisitely delicate workmanship than for the mere size and quality of the gems. Quite inexpensive stones, such as amethysts, peridots, aquamarines and rock crystals, which are extremely fashionable, are set with as much care as if they were diamonds or pearls, emeralds or rubies "worth a king's ransom."

The newest earrings and pendants are light and fine as possible, little swinging chains weighted with a solitaire stone or a cluster of tiny gems.

SMART FASHIONS.

The pointed corsage is promised for the near future.

In jewelry cut steel and cut jet are being combined.

Some of the new skirts are picoted around the edge.

Tailored costumes for street wear are simply designed.

Coats for sports wear are almost invariably of the army order.

The skirts of children's party frocks are usually plaited or flounced.

Open and closed neckwear of lace and net is among the favorites.

A pretty cotton waist has the fullness shirred in around the waist.

Dotted swiss is to be worn in the spring, and so is embroidered organdie.

A great many of the new hats suggest the headgear of European soldiers.

Skirts are made with a rather high waistband, which insures a perfect hang.

There is a growing popularity of the snake bracelet, necklace and even brooches.

Points for Mothers

Consideration For Others.

Train a child to notice and respect the employment of another. If it be merely a game there is no need thoughtlessly, therefore rudely, to interrupt it. A little politeness one to another, a little observance of the wishes of others, will put aside sullen looks and bad tempers.

We know ourselves how disagreeable it is to have the table shaken when we write, to have a door left open or loudly banged, to have some one crossing between us and the light or to be constantly interrupted. Our children cannot like this more than we do. Yet we need not lose our tempers. A smiling protest, a caressing request, a little joke over the annoyance, will prevent its repetition better than a sharp rebuke.

When children are taught to notice these trifles they learn to avoid them. A child is pleased when you apologize to him for unintentional awkwardness. The little seeds sink in his mind. Tomorrow he will avoid that small offense. Rough movements, unpolished speech, detract from rather than increase a child's pleasure. And it is these small trifles that make up the comfort of our homes.

Having the Eyes Examined.

If a child screws up its eyes when looking at a distant object or, when reading a book, has to bend closely over it a defect in vision should be suspected. Sometimes the child complains of headaches or eye ache, the former usually referring to the forehead. There may be at times a slight squint. These are also suspicious signs. Eye strain also gives rise to inflammation of the lids—hence styest—and if this condition is constantly recurring the sight should be properly tested.

Unskilled advice in the matter of the eyesight should be avoided, for permanent injury is easily effected if wrong measures are taken. No child should ever be allowed to wear glasses until a doctor has examined the eyes and has recommended the use of such.

To prevent eye strain the position in which a child does its home work—in regard to the lighting of the room—should always be borne in mind. Any glare on the book or paper should be avoided, and the light should fall obliquely from behind.

Diplomatic Management.

If you want to break a young girl of going about with undesirable friends, or dressing in an unbecoming way, or reading books which she has no business to open, or doing any other of the silly things in which girls delight, you can always manage it best by drawing her attention away to other matters. Those undesirable friends are probably her only refuge from dullness. Let her go out a little more. Show her more of life and she'll drop them very soon.

That common, ugly frock will never be worn again after you have given her a really pretty new one in good style. She would never read those disagreeable books if you took the trouble to provide her with amusing, exciting tales of a decent kind.

But the good books must be exciting and interesting, not merely improving. The nice dress must be dainty and charming, not plain and serviceable. Your way must look more attractive than her own.

Brushing the Teeth Regularly.

If the child is taught early to brush its teeth it becomes a matter of habit, which it carries through life, and the result is a fairly perfect set.

If the first teeth are brushed and kept in good condition and a dentist visited at least once in six months there is little danger of the second teeth being infected or crooked.

It sometimes happens that a first tooth remains in the gum too long—that is, after the second tooth shows signs of coming through. This condition should not be allowed to exist, as the first tooth is liable to irritate the gum, which will become sore and infected, and pus will be the result.

If the first tooth does not fall out naturally on the appearance of the second the child should be taken to a dentist and the offending tooth removed.

Crowded and irregular teeth are often the result of first teeth remaining too long in the gum.

Buying Children's Garments.

In buying goods for children the mother should invest only in those materials which are very closely woven. It is not so much the weight of the goods as the weave. The loose weaves pull apart in no time, and for children they are practically useless. A tight weave need not be very heavy, but it will wear well. It is most important to consider this carefully when buying.

Then, too, when a really fine piece of goods is found it is better to buy in large quantities, for another fine piece may not be found, and the same material may be used in many ways.

For instance, from one kind of goods may be made two dresses for the little daughter, each in a different style and with different trimming, a little suit for the son and perhaps even a skirt for the mother herself. There need never be any waste in fine goods, for it can serve in many different ways.

Covell's Little Joke

It Didn't Turn Out the Way He Expected.

By WILLIAM NORRIS, JR.

Balmoral was a mining town, and all Balmoral, with the exception of Dan Betterley and his sister, thought Colonel Covell's joke a good one. The Betterleys were excepted because the joke was on Dan.

The joke had sprung from a careless remark made by Rob Henders when Julie Betterley had refused to marry Howard Wetton on the ground that she did not want to leave Ben alone to keep house in bachelor discomfort.

"Some one would do Wetton a personal favor by marrying off Ben," suggested Henders, and the rest of the crowd shouted with delight at the idea of the silent Benjamin marrying.

"But he wouldn't know how to ask a girl," suggested Colonel Covell. "Some one would have to pop the question for him. By John Rogers," he added, "I think I'll do it for him! I've a maiden aunt back east who's been crazy to get married for more years than I've lived. Her name's Adora Dedrick, and she must be about sixty now."

"She's got a little money, and she may think that he's marrying her for that, but she'll take him. We'll carry along the game until we've proposed for him, and then we'll let Ben get the answer or else we'll bring the old lady on and let him fight it out with her."

"That would be great," declared Henders approvingly. "Let her walk right up to him and put her arms around his neck and say 'Darling! I'll bet that will scare him into talking.'"

"I'll be one to help pay the old lady's traveling expenses on this here excursion," broke in Denver Bill. "What will it cost?"

"Say $400," suggested Covell as he took off his hat and threw in $20. In a few minutes more than the needed sum had been realized, and, calling for pens and paper, Covell wrote the first letter, while the rest of the crowd looked on.

Betterley was not disliked in Balmoral, but his taciturn ways and his refusal to make one of the crowd that nightly thronged the hotel bar marked him a man apart from the rest. Hence the crowd was willing to pay for the pleasure of seeing his amazement when his undesirable bride elect should appear.

Unmindful of all postal regulations, the postmaster agreed to let Covell have the letters addressed to Dan Betterley should any come from the little New England town where Miss Adora Dedrick lived. Presently it came, a heavy letter in which Miss Dedrick expressed a willingness to correspond with a man so well recommended by Cousin Covell.

"I guess she's forgotten you, colonel," suggested Henders when this line was reached, but Covell merely grinned appreciatively and continued to read.

There was little to laugh at in the letter. Indeed, more than one in the crowd wished there was some one back east who would write letters like that to him, but Covell's vivid description of Miss Dedrick's overripe charms and the thought of what Dan would say when she arrived kept the joke alive during the correspondence that followed. Finally when Miss Dedrick wrote that she was sending her picture and the accompanying photograph proved to be that of a comely girl scarcely out of her teens Covell rolled on the floor in his delight.

"Cousin Adora was that old before they knew how to take pictures," he insisted. "She must have begged this of a photographer. I think that it's time to spring the joke now. We'll send her the money to come on with and ask her to start at once. Dan will see this picture, and when Cousin Adora comes I reckon he'll be some surprised."

Covell laboriously indited a lengthy letter, in which he declared Dan's inability to wait longer for his bride and begging her to come west at once.

A few days later a telegram telephoned from the railroad town to camp announced her start, and when they had learned the sense of the message the plotters allowed it to be delivered, while at the same time Miss Adora's last letter and her picture, inclosed in the original letter, were placed back in the postoffice and delivered to Dan that evening.

Dan received them, but said not a word the next day, and the crowd was disappointed.

"Wait until he sees what he draws," reminded Covell. "He'll go some shy of sleep when Cousin Adora gets after him with all those letters. She'll never believe that he didn't write them."

The thought cheered the disappointed ones, and even when Dan went quietly to his claim on the morrow and did not even ask the postmaster about the letter they chuckled as they thought of the awakening that was in store for him.

Every man in the camp was on hand when the stage came over from Baxton three days later.

Far down the trail the driver waved his hat three times as a signal that the bride had arrived, and they were all lined up about the front of the hotel where they could watch Ben and his sister without being so near that he might suspect something.

There was a tense moment when the veiled figure descended from the interior of the stage, but a murmur of disappointment followed when it was seen that a heavy automobile veil was impenetrable.

Dan came forward, and the arrival turned to him. He led her up to his sister, and the three climbed into the Betterley buckboard and were off to Dan's shack before the camp fairly realized that it was being robbed of its fun.

"It's going to be curious when she takes off that there veil," said Henders, with a sigh, "but it's darned mean that we can't declare in on the deal. I sort of feel that I've been cheated."

"Same here," chimed another voice, and, though Covell urged that there still would be plenty of fun, he was decidedly unpopular for the moment.

In an effort to change the humor of the crowd he invited them over to the Brindle Pup, and they were still having drinks at his expense when Dan Betterley strode in and drew Covell to one side.

"Look here," he said quietly, but with a ring of determination in his voice. "Dora has been asking for 'Cousin Covell,' and I suppose that means you. If it does you are at the bottom of this trick. I want to know what it all means."

"It was a sort of joke," explained Covell, who did not appear to be greatly enjoying the "joke." "Some of the boys thought that you ought to be married, so's Julie could marry Howard Wetton, and I remembered that I had a Cousin Adora back east who's been wanting to be married for the last fifty years, so I thought I'd make the whole lot of you happy and—"

"And you did the writing," concluded Dan. "From what Dora says I gather that there were a number of letters I never saw. I want them."

From the saloon safe Covell extracted the package of letters and silently turned them over to Betterley.

"I suppose you know what the punishment is for illegal use of the mails?" he asked, raising his voice. "The first hint from any one that reaches my wife's ears to the effect that she was the victim of a rotten practical joke will bring a postal inspector here who will see that you get what's coming to you!"

"Your wife?" gasped Covell. "You don't mean to say that you're going to marry that mummy?"

"Doesn't the fact that you are still alive argue that?" asked Betterley. "The joke appears to do on you, Covell. I fell in love with her photograph just as Dora did with mine, and I was well content to make the match you so amiably planned."

"She looks like that photograph?" asked Covell gaspingly.

"It doesn't half do her justice," declared Betterley fondly. "The Adora Dedrick that you have been corresponding with became Mrs. Henry Sprague some ten years ago. This Adora is her niece, her brother's child, named after her. She was the only Miss Adora Dedrick, and she received the letters. She wants to see her cousin, and if you dare hint anything when you come up I'll—"

"You won't have to," said Covell humbly. "I've acted like a bound puppy. Dan, you needn't be afraid. I'm only too glad the joke's been switched."

"Same here," said Betterley, more contentedly. "You fellows come up tonight. There's going to be a double wedding, for now Julia can marry Wetton. You're a pretty good joker, colonel!"

"I ain't no joker," declared Covell, with more emphasis than grammar. "I'm one of them pretty pink Cupids that they have on valentines—and I'm rather good at the job too."

The Lance in Warfare.

The German authorities obviously believe in the lance. The uhlan regiments are carrying it, and their battle equipment is certainly formidable, for in addition to the lance they have a carbine and a saber, which is slung on the saddle. The trend of military opinion is to regard cavalry merely as mounted infantry.

Ironing Edges of Collars.

A man in Paris has invented an iron for the edges of collars. It makes them perfectly smooth, thus preventing them from scratching or chafing the skin. It consists of a small rod with a groove near one end, through which the edge of the collar is passed.—New York World.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Massage For Bruises.

Massage is useful in treating bruises, particularly the severe contusions due to external violence. The rubbing should be done with a stroking movement, using the fingers or the palm, and always directed from the center of the contusion. In this way great relief will often be obtained in a few minutes. The massaging should be done twice a day and should not be continued for more than fifteen minutes at a sitting. In massaging sprains the rubbing should be directed toward the joint, not away from it. In such conditions the time of the application may be lengthened to half an hour, and a greater amount of pressure exerted than in cases of simple contusion. The parts directly over the joint, however, should be handled gently, as otherwise more harm than good may be done.

Helen Gardner Thinks Moving Pictures an Aid in Beauty Culture.

MISS HELEN GARDNER.

Miss Helen Gardner, the beautiful star of the moving picture theaters, has very decided views as to what constitutes beauty. Real loveliness lies in the poise and control of expression, she avers.

"I believe," says Miss Gardner, "that as a promoter of real beauty, the beauty of expression, the picture play is without an equal. Symmetrical features and clearness of skin are desirable gifts, and the possessor of them is fortunate, indeed, but beauty of expression is to be envied more than a beautiful complexion."

"Unlike upon the speaking stage, the figures on the screen are enlarged to many times their natural size, and in the closing 'close up' scenes every muscle of the face and every movement of the eyes used to express the different emotions are shown as though under a magnifying glass."

"The successful motion picture actress is a thorough mistress of the art of expressive action and by it attracts and holds the interest and sympathy of her audiences. Paint and powder and colored stage settings play no part in the influence she exercises or the attention she commands. It is her beauty—not the symmetrical beauty of face or figure, but the beauty of truth and the magnetism of soul reflected and glorified in 'expression'—that is the real charm."

"Stick to your creams and your rouges if you will. They are harmless little vanities. But study beauty of expression if you would be genuinely attractive."

girdles, in the decoration of millinery, as coliflore ornaments and boutonniere.

To make some of the more elaborate of these ornaments requires an unerring taste and deft hand, for much depends on the combination of colors and the adjustment of folds or foliage.

Illustrated here is a dainty yellow rose of soft ribbon in a shade that suggests tea rose. The ribbon is joined together at the ends and has rows of gathered stitching running crosswise to give the fullness to the flower. An artificial center, stem, sepals and leaves are provided for the flower.

—Corps 43 will have a Colonial party including supper, the 22d.

—St. John's Guild will meet on Wednesday, Feb. 3, with Mrs. Lenk, 53 Broadway.

—Mrs. Allison E. Ganong was taken to the Symmes Arlington Hospital for a serious operation.

—Mr. and Mrs. William A. Brooks, Jr., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Goodhue, to Mr. Gilbert Luther Pitman, of Swampscott.

—Town Clerk Robinson informs us that Feb. 18, at 5 p. m., is the last date and hour at which nomination papers for any town office can be legally filed.

—Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Matheson of Moore place, was badly injured, it is reported, while coasting Wednesday afternoon, on the steep embankment of Spy Pond Field.

—Photographs illustrating the manufacture of iron and steel will be on view at Robbins Library until February 8. They were purchased by the Library Art Club from the Keystone View Co., Meadville, Pa.

—Mrs. Frank Bott is at the Deaconess Hospital. Application was made at Symmes Hospital, but all the private rooms were engaged. This has been a busy month at the hospital with many patients, besides six maternity cases.

—Messrs. David Ross Beattie and Allyn C. Fitch, of St. John's church, attended the dinner of the Episcopal Club of Massachusetts on last Monday evening in Hotel Somerset, Boston, at which time Bishop Lawrence, Mr. J. Campbell White of New York and Mr. W. E. Sturgis of Colorado were the speakers for the evening on missions.

—Rev. George Coolidge Hunting, formerly of Boston, has recently been elected and consecrated bishop of Nevada. Bishop Hunting is a young man and is to be congratulated on his success in the ministry. He was a protégé of the late Phillips Brooks and graduated from the Theological College at Alexandria, Va. He is a nephew of Mr. Chas. P. Ladd of Willow place, and hopes to visit Arlington in the near future.

—Arlington Woman's Club will meet next Thursday afternoon, at 2.45, in Associates Hall. The program will be in charge of the Social Service Committee, Mrs. Wm. H. McEllan chairman. "Human waste heaps and how to reduce them," will be the subject of the lecture by Mr. Harry Phillips. Mr. Phillips has been deputy mayor and alderman of West Ham, a suburb of London, and has come here to face with the social and religious problems of its 1,000,000 toilers. The soloist of the afternoon will be Miss Marguerite McIntosh, soprano, one of Arlington's popular singers and leader of the Girls Glee Club of our High school. Mrs. Carrie Robinson, field secretary of Frances E. Willard Settlement will speak briefly on the work of the Settlement.

—The Arlington High school hockey seven, by its superior all-around playing, had no difficulty in winning its annual ice game from the Malden High school team on Spy Pond Wednesday afternoon, shutting out the visiting seven, 5 to 0. Child's inability to stop the disc in front of the Malden cage was in a great measure responsible for Arlington's large score, although the attacks by the Arlington forwards were hard to break up. To Murphy, the Malden rover, goes the credit as the star performer for the visitors. The lineup and summary:—

—Cambridge High vs. Arlington High participated in a debate in Cotting Hall, Arlington, on Friday evening, Jan. 22d, thereby providing a most interesting evening for the friends of the debating society. Supt. J. F. Scully made a courteous and considerate presiding officer and the school orchestra added not a little to the occasion by their attractive selections, the opening number being "La Mexicana." The question debated was—"Resolved: That the members of the President's Cabinet should have a voice in both Houses of Congress." Arlington took the affirmative side of the debate and Cambridge the negative. It was won by Arlington, although both sides of the question were splendidly handled. David Crockett, Herbert Philpott and Leo Kelley (Arthur Dallin alternate), were heard for Arlington, making a most admirable impression, especially Kelley, who was heard in rebuttal in an argument worthy a veteran. The young men appearing for Cambridge were Alfred H. Tutin, Walter E. Myers, Frederick B. Whitman (Lawrence B. Geyer alternate). While awaiting the announcement of the judges there were orchestral selections, also at the close of the evening, the numbers given including Spanish Dance, Isle d'Amour, Evening Star from "Tannhauser," Confidence. The judges were:—

A. H. Carver, principal, Lexington High.
J. A. Avery, principal, Somerville High.
E. L. Collins, principal, Quincy High.

—On Friday afternoon, Jan. 22d, a woman giving the name of Charlotte F. Diehl, aged 24, of 9 Walnut street, Boston, was arrested on the charge of larceny just as she had reached Arlington center, and was taking the car to Cambridge. The principal complainant against her was Mrs. Frank F. Carpenter, proprietor of the Winchester Exchange. She says the woman came into the store about 4 p. m., selected goods to the value of $12 and, when they had been wrapped up, asked Miss Carpenter if she could cash a check for $65. Then she said she would cash it at the bank and went out, taking the goods with her, giving a Winchester address. On her failure to reappear, Mrs. Carpenter grew suspicious, notified the police and her daughter Ruth found a wrong address had been given. She, with police officer McCauley, pursued the woman in an auto. The auto overtook the car just as it was discharging its passengers at Arlington center, at four-thirty. Ruth recognized the woman and McCauley arrested her and brought her back to Winchester. The articles claimed to have been stolen from the Exchange, also from a Winchester milliner, were found in the possession of the Diehl woman who was before the District Court at Woburn, on Saturday morning, where she was fined and paid $20. The chief of Winchester Police Dept. informs us that he arrested the woman some nine years ago for a similar charge for thieving.

—The Teachers' Club was entertained on Tuesday evening, at the High school, by the teachers of Locke school. A masquerade party, to which sixty came in costume, promoted no end of fun, as a good deal of originality was displayed in the costumes, while several were especially lovely and artistic. Mrs. Stephen R. Bean was awarded the prize for the most elegantly gowned, while the most original was Miss Etta Richmond and the funniest Miss Antoinette Canfield. A musical sketch created no end of merriment. It was a contest between the old and new style music. Principal Bean, of Locke school, impersonated the minister who sat in judgment. Miss Blanche Heald and Miss Martha Randall were the leaders of the contesting choirs, which were heard in concerted numbers as well as solos. These latter were rendered by Mrs. Stephen Bean and Miss Helen R. Bowker. It was finally decided to keep the old choir, but to substitute modern music, and the choir then proceeded to give a sample, which was decidedly modern in its tempo. The evening closed with serving salads, rolls, coffee and ice cream.

—The calendar year has passed and town officers are busy with reports of the year soon to be in the hands of the printer in order that they may be ready for distribution at the town meeting for the annual election of officers in March. By vote of the town, a return is to be made this year to the three year term for members of the principal boards, abandoned a few years ago. This will bring three names on the ballot as in recent elections, but instead of being each for a single year, one will be chosen to serve three years, one for two years, one for one year. Already several have announced their candidacies for several offices, but it will remain for the caucus to decide as to the terms for which each shall appear on the official ballot as caucus nominees. This will in no way conflict with any candidate named by nomination paper, contesting for any one of the three terms. The suggestion has been made that there be a general ballot, with the understanding that the one having the highest number of votes be candidate for three years, the second two, the third one year. This seems every way fair and would result in a great saving of time.

—Mr. Freeman F. Young, president of the Moxie Company, the well known member of the Middlesex sportsman Association, opened his attractive bungalow on Mystic street, Arlington, Tuesday evening, and entertained about 60 members of the Medford Boat Club, with their ladies. Mr. Young's estate is widely known for its many novel and very entertaining features, and the Club enjoyed one of the best evenings of the winter through the generous hospitality of its host. The evening was given over to dancing, which was enjoyed in the garage, the floor 60 by 20 feet, giving ample space. The music was furnished by Mr. Young's electric piano, which never grew tired and which responded to all requests. The attractions of the estate, with the perfect museum of curios, trophies and games, were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. The interesting paintings on the walls of the bungalow were greatly admired, and the billiard room with its table bowling, was the gathering place for both gentlemen and ladies. During the evening abundant and satisfying refreshments were served. Among those who attended were:—

Messrs. and Mesdames, T. Price Wilson, Waldo S. Manson, George H. Peckham, William K. Irving, William W. Crosby, Percy A. Goodale, Messrs. Chester D. Dunlap, Albert Walking, Manroe Ames, J. W. Wellington, A. J. McMillan, O. O. Roundy, Ed. A. Clement, Frank E. Maybin, Walter King, Leonard Johnson, Dennis F. Lawton, Wilfred J. Fuller, Clement J. Beaudet, Arthur Smith, Ferdinand S. Roundy, A. J. Maloney, J. F. Roberts, Walter W. Manton, Frank D. Kendall, Misses, Jessie McMullin, Louise I. Bowen, Alma Chesley, Evelyn F. Long, Mildred A. Johnson, Esther M. Bart, Gladys F. James, Edith Hodgkins, Ruth Brown, Dorcas Authier, Helen Hodgkins and E. Louise Berry.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Ellen presented their interesting class of piano pupils in a recital in Associates Hall, on Monday evening. They were enthusiastically received by a large and appreciative audience, and evidently enjoyed unusual popularity and favor among their friends. There was a class of young pupils who were greatly enjoyed by the audience, they were natural and unaffected and they were instructor so much credit. Mrs. Ellen displayed her accomplishments in a brilliant piano solo in opening the program and Mr. Ellen played the Liszt "Tenth Rhapsody" fluently in the second half. Both are to be congratulated on the impression both they and their pupils made at this time, for those present have been unanimous in praising the recital for its merits and the pleasure it gave. They very wisely cut out encores and made the program a popular length as well as pleasing in its character. They were assisted by Mr. M. Muscato, a young and talented violinist, whose classic selections introduced a fine feature of the program. The Ellens are prominent in St. John's parish, where they have charge of the church music. They reside in Arlington, on 8 Whittemore street, where they have pupils and Mr. Ellen also has a Boston Studio at 404 Huntington Chambers. The program and pupils taking part were as follows:—

Rheinhold, Impromptu in C sharp minor.
Mrs. Ellen
Everts, Dimples.
Helen Lyndon
Cloy, The Mill Wheel.
Curtis Kirkland
Chaminade, Prelude.
Rosa Beattie

Arlington Historical Society.
John S. C. Andrews, of Lynn, vice-pres. of Old South Historical Society, Hon. W. F. Davis, ex-mayor of Woburn, and Mr. Arthur M. White, of Woburn, contributed to make the biographical sketch of Benjamin Thompson, known as Count Rumford, most complete in fact and anecdote and most entertaining at the meeting of the Historical society Tuesday evening. His connection with Woburn, experience in foreign lands and his eminence as a pioneer inventor, scientist and social science reformer, made a career rich in usefulness, to such an extent that many of his ideas have been generally adopted.

Mr. Wm. R. Cutter, of the Winn Library, Woburn, contributed a letter from Count Rumford's old papers, and Mr. White, who showed some fine photos of the Rumford house at Woburn, and a painting of the count who was an exceedingly handsome man and had the honor of being painted by Gainsborough. A number of relics were presented to the society at this time, of more than usual value, from Mrs. Milan R. Hardy, nee Annette E. Hill, formerly of Arlington, and from Mrs. Marietta Peirce Bailey of this town.

Messrs. Editors:—I have been asked many times during the past few months if it was my intention to be a candidate for office this year, but have refrained from saying anything definite because of my desire not to have the public matters entrusted to me interfered with by injecting town politics into them.

These matters having been brought to a successful conclusion, or in such shape that their ultimate success is assured, I feel I ought in justice to the other candidates and to put an end to further conjecture, announce my candidacy for the honorable office of Selectman.

Should it be my fortune to be chosen to fill this important office, all the ability I possess will be given to the interests of all the citizens of Arlington.

All articles signed by the required number of voters, and left at the office of the Board before the above date, will be inserted in the warrant.

FRANK V. NOYES, Selectmen
THOMAS J. DONNELLY, of
WILLIS P. HOWARD, 30jan15
Arlington, Jan. 25, 1915.

THIS busy, progressive nation is today at the dawn of a new era of commercial and social development. The means by which the human voice, with its slightest inflections and indications of personality, can be carried across the continent instantly, have been provided. Talking by telephone from the Atlantic to the Pacific is now an accomplished fact.

The celebration of this latest and greatest triumph in the art of telephony has just taken place. Within a short time the public will have, ready for its use, the product of American brains, American initiative and American scientific and technical skill, a transcontinental telephone service, the equal of which is not even approached in all the other nations of the world.

It is a splendid scientific achievement of the very highest character. The power that sends the human voice out over the telephone is scarcely greater than that of a breath, yet the means have been provided by which this tiny, almost imaginary impulse, made up of as many as 2,000 separate vibrations a second, can be picked up by a delicate instrument, conserved over a distance of 3,400 miles, and reproduced perfectly and instantly across the continent. The human voice has been made to travel as fast as light, faster than sound unaided by technical apparatus; indeed, it rivals THOUGHT even, in the swiftness of its flight.

The imagination can but feebly grasp, much less attempt to measure, the far-reaching significance of such a tremendous accomplishment. One hundred million people will have for their daily use a system of communication that knows no East, no West, no North, no South. Dialects, provincialisms, sectional prejudices, must eventually yield to the closer union, the better understanding, the more intimate comradeship that the human voice establishes. The neighborliness of a whole nation is advanced by the brushing away of the physical restraints of centuries.

This contribution to the future happiness and prosperity of a more closely united people has not been brought about, however, by the overcoming of a few isolated, concrete difficulties. Its success has depended upon the exercise of the highest engineering and technical skill and the solution was found only in the cumulative effect of improvements great and small, in telephone, transmitter, line, cable, switchboard, and every other piece of apparatus or plant required in the transmission of speech.

In this work the experimental and research department of the Bell System of which this Company is a part, has been engaged ever since the telephone became a commercial possibility, less than 40 years ago. With no traditions to follow and no experience to guide, this department, which is now directed by a staff of over 550 engineers and scientists, including former professors, post graduate students, scientific investigators—the graduates of 140 universities—has created an entirely new art—the art of telephony, and has given to the people of this country a telephone service that has no equal.

It has required vast expenditures of money and immense concentration of effort, but these have been justified by results of immeasurable benefit to the public. The transcontinental telephone line, 3,400 miles long, joining the Atlantic and Pacific, is part of the Bell System of 21,000,000 miles of wire connecting 9,000,000 telephone stations, located everywhere throughout the United States. Composing this system are the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Associated Companies and connecting companies, giving universal service to 100,000,000 people.
